Another Boom Sale

—AT—
Anderson's,
And the Greatest of Them All!

It has been some time since we have given our customers the benefit of a cut price sale, and in this one we propose to make up for lost time. We have never in our lives had such a tremendous trade and it has taxed us to our utmost to wait on it and keep our stock replenished. But we are a little uneasy for fear our last visit to the eastern market was overloaded. You see, we were having such an unprecedented trade and were offered some large lots so cheap to close out, and then the McKinley Bill going into effect advancing everything, so that taking all these things together it was enough to turn a fellow's head and cause him to over buy, and that is just what we did. We are very and are going to commence in time to unload. Read carefully the two parallel columns on either side and see if you don't think we mean just what we say, that we are going to unload.

THE THANKSGIVING TURKEY.

BY H. C. DODGE.

We love the Goose because his quills have a lot of writing: we love the Turkey because for their little of nicely delighting; we love the Hen upon the nest for Easter Eggs we treasure; but, O, we love the Turkey best—he fills us full of pleasure. The Parrot may our language talk, the Rooster do some crowing, the Peacock may in splendor walk, the Owl look wise and knowing; but their accomplishments, tho' great, are simply dull and murky to one who has a heaping plate of this Thanksgiving Turkey. The other birds are always here—which makes them common, very, but Turkey comes but once a year to make home circles merry, and there he fills the broken ranks of loved ones brought to grief, who scarce can wait to turn thanks before they turn to eat him. The baby to King Turkey crawls, the old folks to him lobbie, the lady and ladies hear his calls of "gobble, gobble, gobble," and all with an amazing zest and appetite "go for him." O, yes! We love the Turkey best—in fact we just adore him.

"I want something," said a farmer as he entered a Michigan avenue drug store the other day.
"Well, what is it?"
"I didn't tie a string around my finger, but I guess I can get around it all the same. What's the name of the lake below us?"
"Lako Erie."
"Exactly. What's the name of the bay which the boats run to?"
"Put-in-Lake."
"Correct. Now, then, who put in there?"
"Perry."
"Straight as a string. I want ten cents' worth of pargory. My old woman said I'd be sure to forget it, but here's the proof that I didn't."—Milwaukee Journal.

A humorous application of bad ethics in photography is to be found in the photograph in an agricultural district who had often occasion to take negatives of cattle and horses. He overcame the difficulty as often experienced of the animals whisking their tails and spoiling the exposure by the ingenious expedient of keeping a large and varied assortment of negatives of cows and horses' tails, from which he selected one that matched that of any given specimen and printed it in, having previously stopped out the original that was blurred by motion.

BIRDS THAT COUNT.

Pigeons Understand the Bell Strokes and Then Fly to Dinner.

In many of the Italian cities it is one of the regulations of the city to have the pigeons feed, and a very pretty sight it is, too. They come in swarms, and completely cover the pavement of the public square for yards. Old men are on hand with little packages of shelled corn done up in shape of a cornucopia, which they sell for a few cents to bystanders to feed the pigeons with. The plump, handsome little fellows, with their bright eyes, shining breasts and red feet, are astonishingly tame, and will perch on the least possible foothold on finger, wrist or arm in the twinkling of an eye. One of the most interesting sights to be seen in the city is the sight of a man holding a pigeon in his hand, and struggle like young pirates for the last kernel.

HUNTING A MOLE.

How One of the Velvet-Clothed Diggers Was Caught.

A live mole being "much desired" to illustrate a natural-history lesson, a specimen of the velvet-clothed digger which was ravaging a conservatory was caught in the following exciting manner.

The gardener and I resolved to catch it. He was anxious to prevent further mischief to his plants, and I was wishing to help the lecturer by sending a lively specimen to illustrate his subject. The exciting part of the business was the necessity of making the capture before eleven o'clock, when the carrier would pass by, and taking charge of the animal, would deliver it in time for the lecture next day. We watched for the appearance of the mole's run, which came at last. The gardener made a quick plunge with his hand into the soft earth, but, alas! the mole escaped. He kept quiet for ten minutes, then another attempt was made and failed. The carrier's bell sounded and he passed by. The mole was not to be caught. A special messenger overtook the carrier and a telegram was sent to announce the dispatch of the precious animal.

He first reached a London office, where I fear he tended to hinder business, as it was needed to transfer him to a cage

A STRANGE SUICIDE.

How a Despondent Tenderfoot Sought Death in the Wild West.

Out at Prescott, Arizona, ten years ago, a young man with red hair, blue eyes, and soft hands, tramped. There town. He had come down the country from the tin cup district of Colorado to a prospecting tour, but why he should strike into Prescott for any thing nobody knew. He had been in hard luck, every body could see. His blue woolen shirt had been washed and washed until it was almost brown from the corrosive action of alkali water, and his clothing was torn and wrinkled. He was a gentleman for all that. He had a pleasant word for everybody, although some of the boys had caught him moping about the corners of the Ark saloon. How he lived nobody knew. He had no money and he could get no work.

"Idaho Jack," a reckless gun fighting cowboy from the Three Sister Mountains of Idaho, was in town, too. He had some money, told a good story, and absorbed liquor like a blotting paper. He said he was on his way to Denver, and that he was a hard-earned story. When morning came he was always drunk. He made friends with everybody except the stranger from the Tin Cup district. One night, when the Ark was blue with smoke and "Idaho Jack" in the midst of a hard-earned story, the morose stranger arose from his chair, walked up to the up-country romancer and called him across the bar.

Then an instant not a word was said. For an instant the Idaho gunman drew his weapon like a flash and fired. The stranger fell dead. Nobody knew his name, but when the sheriff ransacked his clothing he found this note:

"To the Sheriff:—My name is A. C. Hepburn. My parents live at Groton, N. Y. I have been out of work and starving. I have not money enough to buy you a gun, and there is not water enough in Arizona to drown a man. I therefore take this opportunity to slap Jack, knowing as I do that it means instant death, and that is what I want. I want to die. I want a new way to seek suicide, and I demand of you that you do not prosecute Jack, because he was not the aggressor. I am as I die. That is all I ask."
Sincerely, A. C. H.

The letter dumfounded the town. It took all the fight out of "Idaho Jack," and the night of the "shiners" came in until there was enough of them to buy a varnished coffin and whitewashed headboard. Jack's contribution was something like eight dollars—all he had and all he could borrow at the time. He was not prosecuted, but left town as soon as the head-board was set.—Chicago Herald.

FASCINATIONS OF JAPAN.

Why Sir Edwin Arnold Chooses to Remain in That Delightful Country.

The Empire of Japan seems to exercise an irresistible fascination upon its visitors. Many Americans as well as Englishmen who have stopped at Tokio, Yokohama and sundry other cities of Japanese land have been so delighted with the natural beauties of the country, the politeness of its people, the order and cleanliness of its streets, that they have chosen to remain there the greater part, if not the whole, of the remainder of their natural existence.

It is well known that Sir Edwin Arnold, since his arrival in the dominion of the Japs, has been so pleased with his experience among them that he is loth to return to the rush and crush of London living, the wear and tear of editorial duties on the London Telegraph, where he once was so fond of writing articles a yard long in eulogy of Lord Salisbury or in scholarly denunciation of Mr. Gladstone. He finds the luxuriant ease of Japanese living, the queer customs of its people, as well as the amusements, too delightful to be enjoyed only for a few weeks. Consequently, instead of deserting the hospitable shades of Tokio after a short sojourn, as he had planned before he had arrived within its pleasant territories, he has continued to abide there for several months, and it is said that in moments of loathsome enjoyment he has been known to forewear thinking of his friends in the English Isle, the rare and sweet atmosphere of the East forever. When we consider the effect of life in Japan upon such a man as Sir Edwin, it is natural that we should grieve to hear of the poor of this country that it is superior to all other preparations for blood diseases. It is a positive cure for syphilis, poisoning, Ulcers, Eruptions and Pimples. It purifies the whole system and thoroughly builds up the constitution.

THE DEVIL'S DEN.

Quest Stories Told About a Remarkable Place in the Mountains of Kentucky.

The cave near John Dees' in Hamilton County, known as the Devil's Den, has ever been a mystery. No one now living has ever explored its depths, and were curious tales are told in connection with it. The editor of the Jasper News has gone to it at least half a dozen times, with the express purpose of exploring it, but upon reaching its opening, deep down in a dark ravine, over shadowed by tall pine and spreading caks, feeling the chill, chilly current of air that is peculiar to the place, listening to the dripping waters echoing in the cavernous depths, viewing the ever-hanging rocks, which seem ready to give way and fall, and the impenetrable darkness of the cavern, all combined, have never failed to produce a feeling of awe, that would soon ripen into fear, and cause him to get away from the place faster than he went to it.

It is related that in the early history of the country old Uncle Billy Bassett once happened to pass that way at a late hour in the night. It was brilliantly lighted up, and the sounds of music and revelry were heard there. He, knowing nothing of the cave, joyfully supposed that he was approaching some house where he could obtain rest for the night. Going down into the ravine, he followed the course all upon turning an angle of a frightened deer. He said that on a high ledge of rock four or five uncounted-looking characters were clustered, making music on instruments that he was unacquainted with, while on the floor any number of small yellow devils were seen dancing with might and main. Ever since that time it has been called the Devil's Den.

Another story is that during the war it was occupied as a refuge and hiding place for the Rebels. One of the day concluded that, to pass away the time which was hanging so heavily on his hands, he would explore the cave and see what it contained. Up to this time its occupants had never gone over thirty or forty yards into it, so, procuring a good torch and accompanied by a companion, he set out, or rather in, on a voyage of discovery. At a distance of seventy or eighty yards they came across hundreds of skeletons of human beings, which so terrified them that they quit the cave entirely, preferring a life in the lonely to an abode with the dead in that army cavern.—Florida Times-Union.

The Christmas Number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.

The Christmas (December) number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is bound in a special illuminated cover of beautiful design, in lithographed colors and gold; and the contents amply fulfill the promise of this elaborate exterior. The leading article is a richly illustrated narrative of "Dr. Talmage in the Holy Land," describing the Palestine of to-day as seen by the great preacher during his recent visit. The life story of Louise, "the ideal Queen and ideal woman of Prussia," is told, accompanied by Mme. Lebrun's exquisite portrait, and many views. "An Old-time Chronicle" is gleaned from the famous Paston Letters, familiar to all students of medieval English literature. Other articles having profuse pictorial embellishment are: "Bits of the Black Forest," by Edwin H. Morris, "The Early California Missions," by Caroline Stevens Walter, "One Christmas in Egypt," by Colonel J. Milliken, and "China painting" by Lily Marshall. There are short stories by Lucy Hooper, Nora Marble, Etta W. Pierce, Fanny Isabel Sherick, and others, and illustrated poems by W. E. Henley and Georgie A. Davis.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every result and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their merit. H. B. Garner's Pharmacy.

How to Gain in Flesh.

It is what one eats that makes one fat, but the food that is properly digested and assimilated that increases the flesh. The food that lies and ferments in the stomach or passes undigested into the viscera, does the system much harm, as they say, it makes a man thin to carry so much effete matter around with him. In order that there be a full and thorough digestion and assimilation of food, the stomach, the liver and the kidneys must be kept in the finest condition. These great organs of life frequently need the aid of various herbal juices. It is to them what oil is to machinery. It enables them to do their work with less friction. It is this friction that wears out mechanical machinery as well as the machinery of life. Now science has discovered the herbs that naturally aid the movements of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. They are contained in that efficacious remedy known as Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. If you are in a state of general ill health give it a trial and see how much better you will feel.

A GHOST DANCE.

The Indian Crazy Breaks Out in Editor Kentuckian:

It is not generally known that there are many people about Hopkinsville with Indian blood or other blood just as red in their veins. The report of the ghost dances among the Sioux has caused the same craze to break out here and a genuine ghost dance was held at the Opera House Tuesday night. To keep it from being broken up by Co. D, it was given for the pretended benefit of the Little Brothers of the Poor.

It proved to be an immense success. Charlie Thompson was the chief ghost and led the dancers. He was attired in a black shroud and a domino.

John Fye assisted Mr. Thompson very materially in his role of Mephistopheles. Mr. Fye wore a night shirt over his elegant broadcloth suit, to the rear of which was attached a very attractive bustle.

Colonel Day danced very gracefully and was the center of attraction of the entire audience, frequently being interrupted by storms of applause.

When Gus Young and Tom Haegerty appeared on the stage to dance a double clog "Ghost Dance" the vast audience fairly went wild with excitement and both the talented performers had to respond to numerous encores.

Messrs. E. W. Henderson, Geo. H. Johnson, Alex. Overhiser and D. J. Hooser sang a beautiful quartet entitled "The Fairy Ball," then Dan Merritt, J. O. Cooper, Robt. Guyann, Jno. Green and Will Cooper danced the Spanish Bolero to the great delight and entertainment of the audience.

John Young, J. G. Hord, G. V. Campbell, L. H. McKee and A. G. Bush sang the "Sweet Bye and Bye," after which the entire lot of performers appeared on the stage and indulged in what is known as the "Frenzy Dance." Mr. Hooser taking the lead in this instance.

Just at this juncture Dick Holland put in an appearance attired in a beautiful white shroud with point lace trimmings. The audience fairly boiled over with enthusiasm; such a graceful and beautiful creature had never before been seen on any stage in Hopkinsville and Mr. Holland's appearance therefore on his own stage created quite a sensation. Mr. Holland's winks and sprouts out of his eyes were all in raptures over them.

Mr. Holland has declined at least four proposals of marriage to that many eligible and estimable ladies, from the fact that he is very busy in conducting his big Opera House and running the politics of the Second ward. He says he has two or three of the proposals now under consideration and may take some definite action upon them during the coming winter if he can possibly find time to do so.

Red fire was burned and the great "Hopkinsville Ghost Dance" was brought to a climax amid thunders of applause, not receipts over $300. It is said that it will be repeated on Christmas day for the benefit of the L. & N. railroad.

JOSEPH MURKITT.

DREAM OF NEWS.

Archie Baker Shot.

Geo. Cofer accidentally shot and badly wounded Archie Baker yesterday while they were hunting in the country. A colored man brought in the news yesterday afternoon and said the lead took effect in his bowels, tearing a hole from which the entrails protruded. He was taken to a cabin near by. No later reports. Both live in town.

Thanksgiving Services.

Union Thanksgiving services were held at the Ninth Street Presbyterian church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Most of the local pastors who were in the city took part in the program. Services were also held at the Episcopal church at the same hour. The banks and all public offices were closed, but none of the merchants closed their business houses.

A Serious Cutting Affray.

Last Saturday Virgil and Andrew Hancock, brothers, engaged in a fight on the road near Lafayette, which resulted in the serious cutting of the latter. Virgil Hancock, their father, also engaged in the fight, but was not hurt. Andrew received six cuts about the neck and may not recover. Virgil was struck with a rock and badly bruised up. No arrests have yet been made.

The Hunters' Return.

The Christian County Hunting Club returned Sunday from Old Napoleon, Ark., where they went Nov. 5, on their annual deer hunt. They had great luck, killing fourteen deer, one bear and any amount of game and fish. The members of the party were Capt. Sam R. White, J. R. Caudle, W. W. West and Hamilton Hyde, Julian; W. A. Lowry, Hopkinsville; Pete Barker, Barker's Mill; Sam Stegar, Trenton; P. B. Pendleton and W. D. Garnett, Pembroke; Austin Peay, Clarksville; and T. P. Burke, New York.

Burglars Again at Work.

Ben Rosenbaum's dry goods store was burglarized Tuesday night some time before 10 o'clock. The thief must have been accompanied by a small boy from the way the house was entered. An ordinary transom over the back door was broken out. This had an iron bar across the middle and through this space a boy was probably shoved, who opened the door from the inside. About 10 o'clock the door was found open and as near as can be estimated about $10 or $12 worth of clothing and shoes had been taken. Other goods were scattered on the floor and in the back yard.

Dr. Thomas Gets a Place.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners met at Frankfort Monday night, and in a session lasting until after 10 o'clock, effected an organization and drew up the necessary orders looking to the control and use of the branch penitentiary at Eddyville. The officers elected to take charge of the institution are: Gen. H. B. Lyon, of Eddyville, Warden; Dr. Ormsby Gray, of Louisville, Clerk; and Dr. J. Q. Thomas, of Hopkinsville, Physician. The salary of the Warden is $2,000 per annum and term of office four years, unless sooner removed by the board for good and sufficient reasons. The other officers, whose salaries are $1,200 each, are subject to the pleasure of the board.

Children Enjoy.

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative and if the father or mother be constipated or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

MATRIMONIAL.

A marriage license was issued Mr. Eugene Coleman Wednesday, to wed Miss Cora Pankey. Both parties live in the Church Hill neighborhood. The Russellville Herald says a wedding between a young couple occupying "the top round of the social circles of Todd county" has been declared off because the groom-elect caught his girl in the act of kissing another fellow, a few days before the wedding was to take place. Names are withheld, but the girl is described as a beautiful 19-year-old brunette whose father has "broad acres, fine herds and a fat bank account," while the youth is a "sturdy young farmer living on an adjoining farm." Who are they?

PAGE-TUCK.—Mr. Fisher Page, of Todd county, and Miss Lula Tuck, of Lafayette, will be married at the Christian church at the latter place, next Wednesday. Elder Mobley will officiate.

Mr. C. D. Settle, of Kennedy, in this county, was married Thursday to Miss Marian Farmer, of Clarksville. The wedding took place in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Rev. J. W. Sullivan officiating.

Tuesday morning at the Northington House by the Rev. Mr. Early, W. S. Morris, of Pembroke, Ky., and Miss Bettie Whit, of Lincoln county, Ky., were united in marriage. The groom was about 60 years old and the bride 17.—Clarksville Progress.

Moseley & Tribble are still paying highest market price for all good fat hogs. Office, Wyly & Burnett's drug store.

Rev. A. W. Meacham has been conducting a protracted meeting at Little River church for the last two weeks.

The young ladies of the Christian church will hold a reception at the residence of Mrs. Nannie Moore this evening. The public is invited. Admission 10 cents.

Large numbers of turkeys were brought in from the country this week and sold at prices ranging from 50c to $1.00, according to size and condition.

Cliff A. Clark has opened a stock of groceries and general merchandise at Bellevue. He will occupy the Clark store house, the former stand of Clark & McGeehe.

The first reception of the young ladies' Matinee Club will be held at Mrs. E. V. Gant's next Tuesday evening and promises to be a very toney affair. More than one hundred invitations have been issued.

Al Field's minstrels more than met the expectations of the public. His show is decidedly the best of its kind that has ever been here and contains more and better original features than any minstrel company on the road.

Rev. Chas. H. Nash, who is still at Bowling Green, will return again Sunday to hold his regular morning and evening services at the Baptist church. The meeting in which he is engaged at Bowling Green is proving a very successful one.

The Bellevue property of McGeehe Bros., consisting of 28 acres of land, dwelling house of six rooms, blacksmith's shop, stable, two cabins, ice house and other buildings, is offered for sale. It is a splendid location for a doctor. Eight miles from Hopkinsville. Call on or address McGeehe Bros., Clarksville, Gracely or Pembroke.

The manager of the Peerless Minstrels has received a proposition to play the towns of Cloverport and Havesville, Ky., and Cannelton, Ind., on a guarantee during Christmas week, to show six nights in all. It is not likely that the proposition will be seriously considered, as the boys will all be too busy during the Holidays to quit their business.

Mine Host Cooper, of the Phoenix Hotel, spread one of his "big dinners" yesterday and not only feasted his regular guests but a large number of invited friends. It goes without the saying that the dinner was a good one. In fact Mr. Cooper serves 365 good dinners every year and when he adds a few extra touches his meals become banquets of the most sumptuous character.

Mr. George Wills, of the firm of Davis & Wills, of Beverly, and Mr. M. A. Mason, of Newstead, have bought the McGeehe Bros' store property and stock of general merchandise at the latter place. Messrs. Prentiss and Clarence Sallee, who have been clerking for McGeehe Bros., will remain with the new firm, which will be known as Mason & Wills. The business will be conducted by the junior partner, and his eight years' experience in merchandising and Mr. Mason's popularity will, no doubt, cause the new firm to receive a lucrative trade. Possession will be given Dec. 1st.

A breach of promise suit was filed this week by Miss India Hays against E. W. Merritt, asking $10,000 damages. Plaintiff in her petition claims that she was seduced by defendant, under promise of marriage, in February last, and that as a result a child was born unto her on the 9th of this month, and further that Merritt failed to comply with his promise to marry her at the appointed time and has refused since to do so. Sensational developments will likely be made if the suit ever comes to trial, it is understood. Judge Joe McCarroll and Col. A. H. Clark have been retained as counsel to prosecute the suit.

DEATHS.

COLORED.

Lewie Campbell died in the city Tuesday afternoon, aged about 60 years.

Died at the residence of her son-in-law, Richard Smith, on the Clarksville pike, Nov. 19th, Aunt Hannah Williams, aged 87 years and 8 months. She was formerly owned by the late Mrs. Mary P. Moore. A devoted and faithful servant, she was held in high esteem by all her friends, both white and colored.

It is dangerous to neglect catarh, for it leads to bronchitis and consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarh in all forms.

Three damage suits aggregating $30,000, have been filed with the Circuit Clerk, against Mr. J. S. Summers a prominent farmer of the Longview neighborhood. The first is brought by Susan West, the second by W. A. West, next friend of Frank West, an infant, and the third is brought by W. A. West. The allegations in all the petitions are the same, and charge that on the night of Oct. 16th last, Mr. Summers assaulted and fired upon the plaintiffs with intent to kill and in each petition $10,000 is asked as damages. The plaintiffs live immediately on the road near Longview. Mr. Summers denies the allegations set forth in toto, and the general impression is that there is nothing in the case.

A GOOD THING!

To our friends and customers: We are pleased to inform you that we now have a sure cure for chills, which is perfectly sweet. It has no taste at all. It will cure any case of Chills. Quit taking the bitter Chill Tonics, and let us sell you a bottle of Pomroy's Sweet Chill Cure! Price 50 cents. One bottle holds enough to cure two or three cases of Chills. Come and let us show it to you. Your Friend, BUCKNER LEAVELL, Hopkinsville, Ky.

"Can God cure my cold?" asked little four-year-old Jimmy. "Yes, dear, if you ask him," replied his mother. Next day Jimmy's cold was worse. "Mamma, snuffed he, 'God don't seem to be doing much about my cold."

A LUCKY LADY.

MILAN, TENN., Sept. 23.—Mrs. W. Combs, of Humboldt, Tenn., a former resident of this place, has recently fallen heir to half a million dollars left by her Scotch grandfather. She has forwarded proof of her relationship to the lawyers and will receive her inheritance to day.—Baltimore Mail and Express, New York, Sept. 23d, 1890.

We are Mrs. Combs' lawyers and by her seeing our advertisement became the agents of her good fortune. We have a number of similar claims in our hands and expect to gain them if your interest can be secured. If you desire to write us and enclose 25 cents for reply. There are more than half a billion dollars in Great Britain alone unclaimed, which rightly belong to people in the United States.
